TEXa is a certified bio-based material sourced from agricultural by-products.

TEXa provides sustainable solution to reduce global warming.

TEXa's Product Creation Cycle

1. Non-edible Agricultural by-products

We transform biomass based by-product from agricultural industry into sustainable and durable bioplastics.

2. Compounding Process

4. Various Injection Molded Parts

3. Compounded TEXa Bio PP

Product Facts:

- TEXa is suitable for both injection molding and extrusion application.
- Hood damping behaviour for Audio applications.
- Can be used in food contact applications.
- Can be processed with conventional processing equipment with drop in solutions.
- Can be used as master-batch solutions.

Alternative Solutions:

- Melamine replacement for tableware applications.
- OXO biodegradable plastic replacement, PLA replacement, Wood replacement.

Concern for the environment, which has been around for decades, was beginning to become commercial significant. People are more aware of the environmental impacts of human activities and are more willing to make behavioural changes for environmental reasons.

Texchem Polymers has successfully launched the new range of bio-plastics resins derived from agricultural by-products.

Benefits to the Consumers:

- Allowing consumers to enjoy life in healthier, environmentally responsible way.
- Allowing consumers to enjoy bio-product without harming the fragile ecosystems of our Earth.
- Inviting Consumers to be part of our CSR efforts.
- Together fight to save planet and preserve resources.

What is Biobased Material?

Organic material of which carbon is derived from renewable resources via biological processes.

A Biobased product can be partially or fully made from renewable resources.

Environmental benefits

TEXa is derived from agricultural by-products. No deforestation or land clearing has taken place to produce TEXa.

TEXa is not using edible raw materials.

Bio-Plastics products provide unlimited saving to fossil resources and reduce greenhouse gases emissions.

Potential Applications:

- Household and tableware applications.
- Personal care applications with cap, bottles, casing with thinner wall and good fatigue performance.
- Office stationary, Garden tools, Furniture and office Automation (Printer, Copier, etc.).
- Consumer Electronics applications.

Benefits of using Bio-Plastics:

- Green branding to drive differentiation.
- Capitalize on new business opportunities.
- Fight to save planet and preserve resources.
- Comply with increasingly tougher regulation.
- Using non-edible agricultural raw materials.
- Similar characteristic with conventional PP, SAN, HDPE.
